At Northland Pioneer College, we focus on how YOU, the student, define success. Whatever your intention in enrolling at NPC — whether taking one or two classes to upgrade current job skills, aiming for national certification in your career field, earning that valuable associate’s degree or completing your undergraduate general education requirements to transfer to a four-year college or university — we work with you to achieve those goals.

Watch for this mark on classes that would be great for your teen as well as you!

Several hundred devoted Navajo County residents worked for over 15 years to establish the college.

Northland Pioneer College opened its doors to students in the fall of 1974.

The college enrolled 2,000 students the first fall, more than double the anticipated number.

The first classes were held in an abandoned school, an abandoned hospital and a variety of public school classrooms and community buildings.

Nine students made up the first graduating class the following spring of 1975.

Today the college serves over 8,000 students annually in both Navajo and Apache counties, an area of 21,158 square miles, roughly the size of the state of West Virginia.

NPC is committed to providing quality education at an affordable price.
