This is a well-known program where you will serve two years overseas in a developing program. You need five years of experience in a relevant career. Education can substitute for experience. If you have an associate's degree, you will need three years of full-time relevant work experience. The only exception is with a placement in the education program area, which requires a bachelor's degree.

Although there are several program area concentrations, there is a particular need for those with education and/or experience in agriculture.

The lag time between application, acceptance, and service start date is several months, so you will need to plan ahead! Sarai Richter is willing to help applicants throughout the entire process.
