Victims Services is a program under the Navajo County Attorney's Office. It provides support for victims of crime. The four types of services provided for crime victims are courtroom advocacy, crisis response, outreach & education, and victims' compensation. They advocate for victims during the legal process and can provide a range of assistance ranging from providing a listening ear, educating victims about their rights, advocating for the victim's needs with various agencies, and sitting in court on the victim's behalf. There are a lot of opportunities and flexibility for volunteers or interns to customize their experience. Professionalism, maturity, reliability, and compassion are essential.
