Richfield Residential Hall is a dormitory in central Utah that provides wellness, career, and academic support services for high school students. There are two high schools and a college that are part of their program. Students have many academic and vocational options. They are within a two-hour drive of five national parks and their employees are encouraged to share their hobbies and interests with students.

Employee turnover is very low and they rarely have openings. However, qualified applicants who would be a good match are encouraged to reach out to Mr. Cody Workman with an appropriate cover letter and resume.
