Members of a federally-recognized tribe who are interested in pursuing their bachelor's degree in Elementary Education and are interested in incorporating indigenous pedagogy into their classrooms as future elementary school teachers are encouraged to apply. This is a transferable option from NPC's Early Childhood or Elementary Education programs.

The program provides generous scholarship and other assistance. Graduates from this program are obligated to teach at a designated indigenous school for a specified period of time.

Some of the video recording is somewhat detailed about the grant itself and objectives, but there is still the information you need about the ITEP program and how to apply.
